Side Adjustable Strap Series

A black and white photograph of a black backpack. The backpack has a main compartment with a horizontal zippered pocket on the front. A mesh side panel is visible on the right side, and a shoulder strap is attached to the top. The backpack is shown from a three-quarter view.

A black, high-tech protective vest, likely for law enforcement or military use. The vest features a mesh upper section and a solid lower section with straps. It is shown from a front-facing perspective against a white background.

A green and grey backpack with a mesh back panel and a top handle. The backpack is shown from the front, highlighting its design and color scheme.
